11/15/2006 9:24	Currie	Marianne							The dolphin who call this area home, and the whales and manatee who migrate along our coastline, are among the treasures of our fragile eco-system. The use of Sonar has been proven to be extremely damaging and often life-threatening to marine wildlife. Until a plan is in place to protect wildlife and endangered species in training areas, I respectfully request the Navy to delay any training exercises off our coasts.
