SEA LIONS

California sea lions are known for their intelligence, playfulness and noisy barking. Their color ranges from chocolate brown in males to a lighter golden brown in females. Many of the problems that plague sea lions are caused by humans. Sea lions have been found illegally shot or tangled in fishing line and other marine debris. The increase in toxins dumped into the ocean has also caused serious health problems for sea lions. You can help sea lions by not littering and picking up any litter you see.

Ocean Conservancy works to protect the sea lions and all ocean life. We are the nation's oldest and largest organization dedicated solely to protecting ocean environments. We envision a world of a healthy, protected ocean with wild and flourishing ecosystems, free of pollution and filled with diverse and abundant wildlife.
